Michael Nelson currently has four generations of family living in this wonderful city. Over the last 40 years he has enjoyed what makes Hyrum unique by spending time participating in community events. He is committed to this town.

Following graduation from USU where he earned both bachelor's and master's degrees, Michael has worked as a defense contractor, software engineer, and database administrator. Throughout his career he has designed, implemented, and managed tools to improve efficiency, preserve traceability, and ensure projects were completed on time and under budget. He is known to those he works with as a detail-oriented problem solver, approachable by all. He has been heavily involved in engineering design and risk mitigation of several applications to support Air Force programs.

Hyrum is at a critical point in its planning and future development due to growth. Michael feels the areas of greatest need are:

- Planning and Zoning
- Utilities – culinary water/ electricity/ secondary irrigation
- Public Safety and emergency response by city/residents within the community
- Parks, Recreation, and Youth Programs

Michael will represent the residents of the community to ensure they have a voice for their values by ensuring city needs are met strategically, equitably, and sustainably. He's an approachable leader.
